PISTOL BATTLE BETWEEN GRINGSRUD AND OFFICERS

WIFE BEATER FINALLY CAPTURED IN ALBANY

A running pistol battle in the dark on San Pablo avenue last evening between Marshall Glavinovich of Albany, Constable Davis of Stege and Harold Cringsrud, a sailor, residing on Liberty street, between Fairmont and Central avenues, Rust, for whom the officers had a warrant charging him with assault, intending to kill, resulted in the latter finally being captured.

Cringsrud was taken before Justice of the Peace Paul of Albany today who placed him under $4,000 bonds and bound him over to the Superior Court of Alameda county.

Late last evening Cringsrud returned to his home where after abusing his wife about family matters, picked up a club and beating her over the head, chased her from the house.

Mrs. Cringsrud fearing that her crazed husband might injure their six-months-old babe, picked up the child and ran into the street screaming at the top of her voice for protection.

Right in her wake followed Cringsrud, who neighbors and officers claim is insane. At the corner of San Pablo and Fairmont avenues Cringsrud overtook his wife and after knocking her to the ground, picked up the infant and started running toward the town of Albany.

Neighbors, awakened by the screams of the frightened mother and shouts of the enraged husband, called Marshall Glavinovich and Constable Davis to the scene who, after a running chase of six blocks, managed to overtake the kidnapping husband just as he was about to board an Oakland bound street car. Five shots were exchanged in the battle.

According to the authorities Cringsrud has threatened the life of his wife on several occasions in the past.

FALLS FLOOR, IS STRICKEN WITH APOPLEXY

Stricken with an attack of apoplexy while reading a newspaper at his home at 324 Market street, San Pablo, Joseph DeSoito, 68 years of age, and resident of that town since August, 1865, fell to the floor dead at an early hour today.

DeSoito, a native of the Azore islands, came to California when but seven years of age and soon afterward settled in what is now the town of Pullman with his parents. Several years later he was among the first of the big ranchers in this section of the country to take up agriculture and stock raising from which he derived enough money to become independently wealthy for the rest of his life.

The deceased was a past president of the U. P. of C. and had also taken a prominent part in several other fraternal orders.

DeSoito, although a Portugese, made many acquaintances during the pioneer days of Contra Costa county with prominent Spanish families and for a short while was regarded as the "Majo Domo" of San Pablo.

The deceased is survived by a wife and several children who have not as yet completed arrangements for the funeral.

It was DeSoito's one wish that his remains should be placed side by side with those of his pioneer friends in the little Catholic churchyard at San Pablo.

OFFICERS CLOSE ON TRAIL OF TONY LIGA

Tony Liga, for whom the police of the state are searching, as the alleged murdered of Antone Canazaro of San Leandro is in this city.

This information was given out late this afternoon by Constable Davis of Stege who stated that while standing on the corner of San Pablo and Potrero avenues on Tuesday evening a man with an umbrella pulled low over his head passed him and was immediately recognized by several Italian countrymen as Tony Liga, the much wanted San Leandro man. The man when commanded to halt by Constable Davis, broke into a run and managed to board a car headed for this city.

"Not being positive about the man's identity, I did not telephone ahead to the Richmond police and had my doubts as to the man having been Tony Liga, the murderer until this afternoon when I received a circular from the office of Sheriff Barnet with a description tallying exactly to that of the man who had passed us with the lowered umbrella.

"I am positive now that the fellow was Liga as were the several Italians standing on the corner, who claim to know him personally."

Chief of Police Walker, upon receipt of the information, started a dragnet in operation through the numerous Italian boarding and lodging houses of the west side where it is expected that before nightfall the man whose murder has shocked the state may be behind prison bars.

ASTOR HANDS OUT TIP OF FIFTY CENTS

It's not the millionaire who is always the biggest "tipper."

This can be vouched for by the half score "baggage smashers" who perspired blood in their endeavor to get the three truck loads of trunks, suit cases and golf bags of the Astor party aboard of Santa Fe train No. 2 at Ferry Point last evening before it pulled out for the east.

And then, when those half dozen men had finished their task in record breaking time with the hopes of getting a few extra "shekels," Vincent Astor, America's youngest multi-millionaire came forward from his private car and reaching into his trousers pocket drew forth a fifty-cent-piece to be divided among the six.

A five-dollar bill would have been meager enough for the work accomplished by the men, but fifty cents, well, they accepted it, but not without curling up their lips.

CLARK FUNERAL SET FOR SATURDAY

Attended by an escort of Moose Defenders in military uniform, the remains of Attorney C. A. Clark will be escorted from the Curry undertaking parlors to the First Christian church, where, at 2:00 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, services will be conducted by the Rev. T. A. Boyer.

Following the services the funeral will proceed by automobile to Sunset View cemetery where the Masons will conduct the grave rituals.

The deceased was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clark of Mercer, West Virginia and a graduate of the University of West Virginia. He is survived by a wife, Mrs. Olive Clark and a son, Karl Champ Clark.

Is Happy Man.

Al Mejia, employe of the Western Pipe and Steel company, is the happiest ma nin town over the arrival at his home last evening of a bouncing baby girl. Both mother and babe are reported as doing nicely.

HENRY D. MASON IS OUT FOR COUNCILMAN

Henry D. Mason, the well known ice man and head of the local Aerie of Eagles in this city, a member of the Teamsters' Union and a charter member of the local parlor of Native Sons, has shied his hat into the arena for a position on the council at the coming general municipal election. Those who are acquainted with Henry Mason, and there are but few in this city who do not know him, are confident that he is going to "cut some ice" in th. campaign, figuratively and literally.

Aside from his lodge connections and affiliation with his local union, Henry Mason has an immense number of supporters—those who have known him in a business and social way since he came to town when Richmond was in its swaddling clothes, for he is a pioneer of the city and has assisted in its advancement in every manner possible.

CHRISTOFFERSON TAKES WINTERS ON TRIP

"Gee, but it's some sensation" is the way that Adolph Winters, local florist, puts it in speaking of his aeroplane flight taken over the Cliff house yesterday in San Francisco with Harry Christofferson.

"I didn't know we had left the ground," stated Winters today "until I looked down and saw the hangar where the machine is kept, looking about the size of an egg. From the beach we circled out over the ocean and swooped down across the bow of the 'Steamer Yale' from Los Angeles."

Winters is arranging to sign up for one year's course in aviation with the Christofferson's following which he will purchase an aeroplane and give up the floral work.

YOUNG ASTOR DEPARTS FOR HOME IN EAST

Wearing a long grey overcoat and carrying a camera in his right hand, Vincent Astor, wealthiest of America's millionaires, whose income is $8.00 a minute, walked serenely from the Santa Fe ferryboat "San Pedro" last evening to his private car "New York," in which he will be rushed across the continent to his Fifth avenue mansion.

When asked by newspapermen if there was anything to the report which had been circulated that he was slipping quietly away from San Francisco because he had not been officially received by Exposition directors, young Astor colored and hesitating in his walk to the luxuriously fitted car "New York," said: "You may state for me that I was overjoyed with the sights as seen at the Exposition and will tell all of my friends of the wonderful hospitality which has been extended the members of my yachting party while at San Francisco."

Astor was first to walk along the gangplank from the boat, while at his heels came Mrs. Astor and George Chadwick.

Astor, whose height made him plainly discernabne in the crowd, spoke with interviewers on various sights which he had seen while yachting to the coast and intended to stop several days at the Grand Canyon of the Colorado while on his way east.

Perhaps the first characteristic feature which the "curiosity seekers" notice about young Astor are his lips which are large and protruding.

Although arrangements had been made to have the members of the city council and various city officials at Ferry Point to meet the young millionaire when he landed, a hitch occurred somewhere, for no one showed up.

Among those who made a special trip to Ferry Point that they might just catch a glimpse of young Astor and his "millionaire party" were Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Harlow and son, Page.

SUIT BROUGHT TO PREVENT BOND SALE

Suit for injunction was filed late yesterday afternoon by H. C. Cutting against Ira R. Vaughn, city treasurer of Richmond to prevent the sale of land belonging to the plaintiff on Richmond avenue to pay for street improvement. A restraining order was issued in Department No. 2 returnable on April 26th.

TANKER E. L. DRAKE LEAVES FOR THE NORTH

The Standard Oil tanker, Colonel E. L. Drake, which plys between San Francisco and Pacific Coast ports, came off the ways at the Union Iron Works yesterday morning with one of the most complete submarine signaling plants aboard than can be found on any of the ships entering this port. The new apparatus was installed by the Submarine Signal company. The Colonel Drake, after taking a cargo of oil at Point Orient sailed for the north.

OLD RIVER BRIDGE IS APPROVED

Plans and specifications for the construction of the "Old River Bridge," the cost of which is to be borne jointly by Contra Costa and San Joaquin counties, were approved by the board of supervisors today at Martinez.

The bridge will be modern and up-to-date in every way and will be on the road running between Byron and Stockton.

ENOS ALIVE, FINDS ENOS DEAD

Frank Enos was drowned at Port Costa at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of February 21st, yet it was Frank Enos who yesterday found the body of the drowned man near Crockett and who was given the $50 reward offered for its recovery.

Fate seemed to link itself with the latest turn in events in the drowning for as the body was being taken to Martinez by Deputy Coroner J. J. Hauser, the boat upon which Enos was working when he was drowned was found to be tied at the identical spot where the accident occurred.

Enos, the drowned man, was employed on the steamer San Joaquin No. 4, which has been towing barges loaded with oil for the Associated Oil company. On the afternoon of February 21st, the young man stepped upon the tow line, which was drawn taut as he pressed his weight on the rope.

He was tossed into the air at least twenty feet and descended head foremost into the water, disappearing beneath the waves and not again coming to the surface. His half brother, Antonio Gancloves, who also works on the boat, witnessed the accident and offered the reward for the finding of the body.

Yesterday afternoon Frank Enos, employed in the sugar mill at Crockett, saw a body floating near the works and procuring a boat went and towed it to shore.

He notified Deputy Coroner Hauser, had it identified as that of Frank Enos. "You have made a mistake, for that's my name," stated the finder of the body and explanations followed. And so it was brought forth that Frank Enos, alive, had found Frank Enos, dead.

The deceased was 29 years of age and a native of Portugal. The remains were shipped to Sacramento today for burial.

HOPING FOR THE BEST

Speaking for the American people, the Stockton Record says we are going to squeal quite a little bit over having things from Germany, especially dye stuffs and fertilizers, cut off from us; but maybe the experience will be right good for us. If we can't have frosted layer cake, let's make the most of cookies, double-crusted pie, doughnuts and such.

We Americans are a great people at converting luxuries into necessities by psychological process. A century ago corn bread was the staff of life." Now nothing will do save the white wheat bread, and the whiter and consequently less nutritious it is the stronger we feel that it is a necessity.

A decade ago millions of us walked who now feel that we couldn't possibly live without our automobiles.

The same thing is true in respect of our habits of dress and of living. In respect of scores of things, we've converted luxuries into putative necessities and paid for it in exery case, in money and in physical status.

We live better, as it is put, than any other people on earth; but if our style of living depends in important particulars upon trade connection with any other nation it is time we realized it. We've either got to cut out some of the luxuries or produce them ourselves, and, no matter which alternative we accept, there's good in it for us.

We prune almost all things of the vegetable world to make them sturdier and more fruitful. Maybe a pruning of our quick rowth of luxuries would result in great racial benefit.

On the other hand, there's no mistaking that the human animal's demand for something a little more than the bare needs of life has had much to do with man's progress from the condition of the naked cave dweller.

Very good. If we can't have foreign-made cake, we can safely live on corn bread; and we'll make our own cake of we can. If we can't have German dyes, we'll wear white goods, or goods colored with such dyes as we have. It's all pretty much a matter of psychology anyhow.

Editorial experts are turning their batteries on the canal defenses, finding it a cinch to demolish them—on paper.

Becker may not have as much money as Harry Thaw, but he seems to have something equally attractive to lawyers.

Our idea of a man in hard luck—this New Yorker sued for breach of promise by a girl he swore he saw for the first time in court.

If stories of continued appearance of "peace or bread" posters in Germany be true, somebody must be trying to start a backfire on somebody.

Nobody need be surprised to read a yellow headline, "Preparing for war," in connection with General Leonard Wood's visit of inspection to the canal defenses.

Notwithstanding the columns printed on the surrender of Przemysl, not a doggoned one of us know how to pronounce it.

Europe needn't worry over our butting in; nor count on our surrendering any right we have under international law.

Uncle Sam accepts parcel postage on foodstuffs for points in belligerent territory, but does not guarantee delivery.

Vermont has a new eugenic marriage law, with a $500 penalty for failure to comply. Intention's good; let's hope results will be.

Having failed to shake down the income tax to anticipations, Secretary McAdoo has given those charged with its collection a shake-up.

Mexican armies have no paymasters—they are expected to collect all that is coming to them, and then some, from noncombatants, and they do.

The Prinz Eitel's commander enjoys the climate of Virginia and should settle there—so long as those British warships are outside the harbor.

Of course John Bull is bossing his own show, but just the same his censoring American mails is not increasing his friends over here.

War continues to slay people by the thousands. Yet you will find many four-flushers and agitators who will ridicule the "watchful waiting" policy of President Wilson.

We Americans can manage to pull along under the Wilson neutrality program regardless of any treason that may be lurking in the breasts of hyphenated-Americans. "Watchful waiting" should be the slogan of all true Americans.

Another bunch of pessimists—the twenty income tax special agents asked to resign for not getting the money.

Owners of some presidential booms would be glad to swap them for a promise of a cabinet portfolio under the next administration.

General Goethals doubtless knows that more than one good soldier has been spoiled to make a mediocre politician.

COME TO COLLEGE INVITATION GIVEN

"If I'd only had a chance to go to college!" says many a man.

But now the University of California is giving people who can't go to college for four years a chance to go to college for six weeks, and for those six weeks live the life and do the work of a regular student.

Of the three thousand or more students who will be at Berkeley from June 21 to July 31 for the next summer session, one-fifth will be college graduates returning for more study, perhaps a third will have had some University work, and the rest will be men and women of mature years who come to see for themselves just what going to college means and who are made welcome with no question whatever as to their previous preparation.

All ages will be represented, from fifteen to eighty, and all manner of occupations, for the University of California tries to give to every Summer Session student what will be of the greatest possible personal usefulness in his own life work.

Teachers, for instance, by attending courses in their own particular specialties, may bring themselves abreast of the times through instruction from men of distinguished reputation, from the faculty of the University of California or from other leading American universities. Thus, for example, teachers of history may take a course in American history which will be given jointly by Professor Frederick J. Turner of Harvard; Dr. J. Franklin Jameson, managing editor of the American Historical Review and Director of the Department of Historical Research of the Carnegie Institution, and Professor Max Farrand of Yale, or else a course in European history given jointly by Professor Charles H. Haskins of Harvard, Professor H. Morse Stephens of the University of California, and Professor George L. Burr of Cornell.

The woman whose career is in her own home may study psychology or child hygiene to help her in rearing and teaching her children, or textiles, or cookery, or the principles of home furnishing and decoration, or costume design, or "house wifery," the scientific and practical management of the home, including labor-saving devices and methods, the wise purchasing of the family wardrobe, tests for qualities and values, etc.

The engineer or the young man engaged in banking or looking forward to the practice of law may take professional courses in their particular fields.

The social worker may study methods of vocational guidance, under Meyer Bloomfield, director of the Vocational Bureau in Boston, really the originator of this important new movement; or study the problems of industrial hygiene, or methods for dealing with the feeble-minded, or the problems of poverty, or, under Dr. William F. Snow, secretary of the American Social Hygiene Association, and Dr. Mazyck P. Ravenel, professor of Preventive Medicine in the University of Missouri, the public health movement and the educational, commercial, and social problems of social hygiene.

Those who are interested in the playground movement may have special training for this work in the Department of Physical Education—which is to have some thirty different courses for gymnasium teachers, playground workers, athletic directors, etc.

There will be courses in Journalism by Merle Thorpe, professor of journalism in the University of Kansas, who conducted very successful courses in the Summer Session at Berkeley last summer, and by J. Melvin Lee of New York University.

The farmer or the horticultural inspector or the man who looks forward toward farming or agricultural teaching as a career, may choose between a wide variety of courses in animal husbandry, dairying, agronomy, landscape gardening, plant pathology, pomology, poultry husbandry, soils, veterinary science, agricultural education, etc.

A large proportion of the thousands of Summer Session students are particularly interested in instruction in literature, music, or art. For these there will be such lecturers as Professor Stockton Axson, formerly of Princeton and now of Rice Institute at Houston, Texas; Hioratio W. Parker, professor of music at Yale and composer of grand operas, cantatas, and much other music of notable reputation; and Ernest R. Kroeger of St. Louis, also widely known as a composer.

The instruction in art will this year be of particular interest, since the Summer Session students may profit by the study of the ten thousand paintings and the thousands of pieces of sculpture now on display at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. There will be a number of lecture courses on Greek Art, on the principles of design, etc., and various courses in drawing from the antique, figure drawing, still life, and the practice of design, and there will also be a series of eighteen lectures by Eugene Nehaus, the landscape painter, chairman of the Western Advisory Board for Fine Arts of the Exposition, on the architecture, decorative sculpture, color scheme, and mural paintings of the Exposition, and on the contents of the Exposition galleries and their relation to schools, paintings and individual expression in art. These lectures as given recently at the university by Mr. Nehaus drew audiences of more than fifteen hundred people.

The annual Summer Session of the University of California has now come to be the largest in enrollment in America. For this three reasons are primarily responsible—the extraordinary diversity of the courses, which include something that will meet every human being's interests and needs; the distinction of the faculty, which is drawn not only from the University of California itself, but from the other leading American universities too; and, particularly important—the fact that Berkeley has a cool and delightful climate. Since San Francisco is distant only half an hour with a ten-cent fare, the opportunity of combining Summer Session studies with a visit to the Panama-Pacific Exposition will doubtless draw to Berkeley such an attendance as has never before gathered anywhere in America for a university Summer Session.

GOOD HIGHWAYS INCREASE HAUL OF FREIGHT

Successful competition of the commercial auto truck with the steam and electric railroads in the hauling of short distance freight and passenger business is given as one reason for extensive road improvement, in the report if the joint congressional committee on federal aid to good roads. Discussing this phase of the subject, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., chairman of the committee, says:

"A great system of rural transportation would be developed, with rates regulated by actual competition, open to rich and poor alike, as no expensive privately owned terminals, roadbeds, tracks or equipment would be required. The good wagon roads would be open everywhere to the use of everybody, and the equipment, relatively inexpensive, would be within the means of many.

"This suggestion as to the use of rural roads by commercial auto trucks and buses, is not merely a product of imagination. In several instances gasoline propelled buses are now competing successfully with city or interurban electric lines, and where the haul is but a few miles transportation of freight by auto truck is found cheaper and more satisfactory than transportation by rail.

"In the case of the short haul the saving in handling and in time more than counterbalance the lower rail rate. Instead of loading the commodities on a truck, unloading at the local railroad station, where they must be loaded upon the cars, hauled to the nearby city and then unloaded and again loaded upon a truck and hauled to the consignee, the user of an auto truck who has a hard surface road available loads his products once, hauls to the door of his consignee and unloads, saving not only the handling, but the time, the inconvenience of issuance of way bills and receipts, and avoids damage to goods or deterioration while in transit.

"We believe that permanent highways will result in very considerable adoption of auto truck hauling in preference to rail transportation where the distance is within a half day's run."

W.C.T.U. INSTITUTE IN SESSION AT RICHMOND

The first session of the W. C. T. U. Institute was held yesterday afternoon at the Presbyterian church. A very interesting program was carried out after which a reception was given and refreshments served. The principal speaker was the state superintendent, Mrs. Estes.

The county president was also present and added much to the interest of the meeting.

In the evening a Demorest Medal contest was given. Miss Tamar Harper winning the medal, while each speaker acquitted themselves in a very creditable manner, and it is hoped that each may prove to be a Francis E. Willard.

A note of victory was sounded all through the speaking yesterday and the temperance forces are looking forward to a dry nation by 1920. As there are now 18 dry states, 10 of which have been won since last September.

The Institute is continued today. Free lunch at noon.

CROP PROSPECTS IN CALIFORNIA ARE GOOD

Regarding conditions in California R. G. Dun & Company in its New York publication says:

Fine growing weather prevails and crops are coming forward, the marketing of asparagus being now in full swing, this being virtually the earliest important crop in this state and both eastern shippers and the canners are buying freely. The canners are starting active operations and anticipate a large asparagus stock. The market being practically bare.

As far as can be judged at this early stage, all crops promise well, except barley, which will be short. Two cargoes of last year's crop went foreign this week, aggregating 139,115 bushels, valued at $199,650.

Lumber brokers report somewhat more hopefully, especially in redwood, but pine is still being overproduced and the market is slow in consequence. Building generally is behind last year and in the country little new work is being undertaken, doubtless because farmers are disposed to be conservative until markets for this year's products can be foreseen and this applies to country business generally, buying being for immediate needs and business lacking vim in consequence.

In wholesale dry goods and allied lines sales are reported as slow and in moderate amounts and collections not easy. Wholesale grocers and tea and coffee jobbers report business as good for the season, collections slow to fairly prompt. Millstuffs and hay move slowly. Bakers have been handicapped by high flour prices and are disposed to be economical in buying other supplies.

The wholesale liquor business which had a spurt after election last November, has settled down to new conditions, caused by prohibition in the nearby states and very keen competition exists for the trade of the states left wet. Some liquor imporers are taking on other lines to make up for decreased liquor demand.

Collections in this line are reputed slow. In the dairy produce market activity prevails, there being a good city demand, and eggs especially are being freely traded in, large quantities going into cold storage at the present time.

SAN DIEGO FAIR ATTRACTING CROWDS

SAN DIEGO, Calif., April 9. — The San Diego Exposition has passed its third month with the best profit shown to date, and has broken all records in Exposition history by paying expenses with a good margin of profit so early in the year. The success at the gates is attributed in great measure to the fact that the low railway rates from eastern points went into effect on March 1 and immediately released an enormous touring population that refused to travel in the first two months of the year.

With the financial success of the fair now assured, as the bulk of the eastern tourist business is not yet under way, the Exposition is planning numerous special events which were delayed in execution until the visiting crowds should warrant the expenditure. The first considerable addition is in the realm of music, starting with the presentation of Haydn's "Creation" on Easter Sunday and continuing with the engagement of Creatore's band for the last week of April and the first week of May. This will be followed immediately with the engagement of the Long Beach concert band, which in recent years has figured importantly in coast musical events. These and other organizations to follow, of course supplement the various bands doing regular duty throughout the year.

It is also contemplated to start the imposing pageants shortly. Detailed plans for these were prepared months ago, but the schedule was delayed until spring. These are planned in connection with the special days set aside for the states. April 12-19 is set aside for the New England states, the last day being Patriot's Day in New England.

The biggest motor tour thus far in the year is scheduled for April 10, when the Automobile Club of Southern California moves down from Los Angeles. Five hundred cars are already promised by the managers, and this number should be amplified by additions from nearby motoring centers.

BOXING MATCH DRAWS BIG CROWD

Nearly 500 wild eyed fight fans were in attendance at the boxing bouts staged in the Eighth street skating rink last evening by Promoter Kirby Floyd.

In the wrestling bout scheduled as the curtain raiser, Buckholtz, terming himself as the Alaska giant, received a fractured shoulder blade and had to be given medical attention by Dr. Hall Vestal.

The two four-round bouts were fair. "Plug" Milne, a local "ham and egger" managing after three rounds of "stalling" to procure a decision over Frank Howard, while Al Mejia outpointed "Young Butch" also a local boy.

Promoter Floyd has not as yet announced just when the next show will be staged but hopes to have large quarters next time for the accommodation of the crowd.

DISEASE OF BEETS CONTROLLED BY ROTATION

To be rid of the disease known as "crown-gall" the sugar beet farmer has simply to adopt a system of wise crop rotation, planting oats, corn, kafir, milo, or sorghum in the infested field. Even a beet field badly infested with the crown-gall may be freed by the growing of some one of these crops in that field for two or more years before returning to sugar beets.

The above advice is contained in a new professional paper, Bulletin No. 203, of the United States Department of Agriculture, entitled "Field Studies of the Crown-Gall of Sugar Beets." This disease has increased rapidly in recent years and is still on the increase. In many localities where only a small number of cases were observed a few years ago there are now thousands of beets affected with the disease every year, especially if a beet crop has been followed by a beet crop for several years in the same field. The disease has been observed in practically all beet-growing stages, from Michigan and Ohio to Montana, Idaho, Utah and Colorado.

Beets Have "Tumors" and "Tuberculosis."

The disease assumes two kinds of forms which scientists have termed "tumors" and "tuberculosis." A protuberance like a wart appears at any point from the top of the beet to the extreme tip of the root but generally only near the surface of the ground. Observers in former years looked upon the warts or galls as curiosities. Later when the destructive effects of these growths were learned, measures were at once sought for their prevention.

Both kinds of the disease usually manifest themselves at first with a smooth exterior but if the beet has "tuberculosis" the protuberances finally become very rough, cracked, and dark, decay sets in and the beet itself rots. The tumor variety of gall remains quite smooth and does not usually decay; however, it lowers the quality of the roots. The growths do not usually appear on the beet until it is one-quarter to one-half grown; that is until mid-summer. From that time on they may appear at any time until the beet is harvested.

Mechanical injuries to plants offer favorable seats for the infection, and are usually more numerous near the ends of the rows where they are produced by the horse and cultivator in turning. As far as the size of the beet is concerned the galls do not seem to have any marked effect upon it, consequently the tonnage or yield per acre does not seem to be particularly affected by the disease in case it is the tumor type of the disease. If the beet roots have decayed as a result of the tuberculosis infection the tonnage will of course be less.

The principal objection to both diseases is that they reduce the sugar content and the purity of the root. The protuberances themselves are low in purity and therefore detrimental in the milling processes.

ADVENTISTS TO HAVE BIG SESSION SOON

The General Conference committee of the Seventh-Day Adventists, the governing body for the entire world, will hold its Autumn Council at San Francisco and Loma, Cal., November 5 to 30. The sessions at Loma Linda will be from November 5 to 27. A two-day session will be held November 29 and 30 at the Panama-Pacific Exposition pavilion, in the Civic Center, at San Francisco, which seats more than 10,000 persons. The North American Division Conference committee will hold its Autumn meeting at the same time.

DANCING PARTY SCHEDULED TONIGHT

Eclipsing all other social functions of note will be the informal invitational dancing party to be held in the spacious auditorium of the Richmond Club on Nevin avenue this evening by a number of prominent local girls.

The interior of the new club building has been beautifully decorated for the evening's party in palms and potted plants by Adolph Winters, a local florist, while all of the pillars and pilasters at the entrance to the auditorium have been artistically draped in vari-colored streamers for the occasion.

Owing to the smallness of the auditorium only a certain number of invitations were sent through the mails for the party at which special music is to be furnished by Ward McRacken.

RIGHTS OF ADOPTED CHILDREN AT STAKE

One of the most interesting cases now before the United States Supreme court is that which involves the rights of adopted children. The legal status of adopted children in many states is involved in the court decision, which is eagerly awaited. The test case now before the court is brought by the estate of the late George T. McGehee of Mississippi, their father's friend and their father by adoption.

The contest is over the inheritance of real estate in Alabama owned by McGehee. The twins rest their claim on several grounds, one being that under the contract of adoption in Louisiana they became the sole heirs, as if they were the natural children, of McGehee's property no matter where situated. The Alabama federal courts, however, held that Alabama law determined the heirs of real estate in that state. Attorneys for the twins, in their brief, argue that the federal courts have made a "mere scrap of paper" of the Louisiana adoption laws.

The twin daughters of the late General Hood are Miss Ida Richardson Hood and Oldie Musson Hood Holland, now living in New York. They claim they turned over to McGehee in 1894 $86,000, their share of a fund created by voluntary contributions made throughout the southern states for the benefit of the children of General Hood. The relatives of McGehee assert that if the transfer of this money was a gift, it merely evidenced the generosity of the twins, and if a loan, merely created a debt against the estate, but in no way determined the legal heirs to the estate.

DON'T WAIT

Take Advantage of a Richmond Citizen's Experience.

When the back begins to ache,
Don't wait until backache becomes chronic;
'Till kidney troubles develop;
'Till urinary troubles destroy the night's rest.

Profit by a Richmond citizen's experience.

"My little boy had weak kidneys for years and I was often obliged to keep him home from school," says Mrs. Walter Stubblefield, of 537 Fifth street, Richmond. "Whenever he caught cold, the kidney weakness was worse. He didn't seem able to control the kidney secretions at night. I doctored and gave him medicine, but without any permanent benefit. Finally, I gave him Doan's Kidney Pills. Two boxes worked wonders. His kidneys soon began to act regularly and his appetite improved."

Price 50¢, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy — get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Stubblefield recommends. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. advt.

NEW MOTOR LAW PASSES THE SENATE

The Birdsall motor vehicle bill, which has been worked into shape at various conferences of automobile men, State officials and legislators has passed the Senate by a vote of 25 to 6. The only opposition came from Senator Chandler, who objected to the clause forcing all vehicles to carry lights. This, he said, would mean an expense of $3 a year each to 264,000 farmers in the State.

The application for license must be made on the A. L. A. M. horsepower rating, and the license is 40 cents per horsepower. Year discs will be issued instead of number plates. The speed limit remains the same, but the penalty for violation is made more severe. A violation three times within 60 days means revocation of license for 60 days.

The penalty for driving a machine while intoxicated is more severe. Headlights must be dimmed. An attempt is made to stop persons from throwing glass and tacks on the highways. It is also a misdemeanor for any person to climb into a car that does not belong to him and investigate it by trying brakes, etc.; or for any person to allow his or her child to make a similar tour of investigation.

Rates for motor trucks are increased. Electric pleasure vehicles are taxed $5 a year. Motorcycles are taxed $2. One-half of the fines for violation go into the county where the violation is committed, and the other half to the State Engineering Department.

The salary of the chief of the motor vehicle department, Will French, is raised from $2,400 to $3,000. One provision that should please owners is that which prohibits chauffeurs from accepting commissions for garage purchases.

The State tax on jitneys will be somewhere between $20 and $60 a year for five-passenger cars, according to the present plans of the Senate Committee on Revenue and Taxation.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's recipe to bring color, lustre and thickness to hair when faded, streaked, or gray.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant. —Advt

SWINDLERS FATE IN HANDS OF PRESIDENT

Unless the president grants a pardon today, opposing the opinion of two branches of the judiciary, the five men convicted of swindling in connection with the International Lumber and Development scandal must surrender today to serve their prison sentences. The thirty day reprieve granted by President Wilson, so that the convicted men's appeal might be further studied by the Department of Justice, expires today. It is known that the Department of Justice opposes pardon for the convicted men, as the case has gone through the Federal courts and a new trial has been refused once by the Circuit Court of Appeals and twice by the Supreme Court. It is said that Attorney General Gregory has reported adversely against the granting of pardons in this case. His position is supported by the judge who heard the case and by the federal district attorneys who prosecuted the convicted swindlers.

The swindle was one of the most far-reaching ever unearthed by the federal officials. Thousands of investors, lured by the glowing tale of untold wealth in Mexico, put their savings into the company. It is said that 500 government employees in Washington were victims, and it is known that Philadelphians by the thousand wee among the loses in the affair.

The fraud was discovered by the government agents who went to Mexico and studied the situation as it actually existed. The charge brought against the promoters was fraudulent use of the mails. A stockholders' committee also went to the fabulous plantation in Mexico. One of the investigators claims he was thrown into pail there on a trumped-up charge. According to the postal inspectors, the development company flooded the country with literature which claimed that the 288,000 acre plantation in Mexico which it controlled was rich in valuable mahogany trees, henequin plants and other products. It was shown by the evidence that the company was doing practically nothing in the way of development work, and that dividends were paid from money received from sale of stock.

The trial of the promoters was one of the most sensational of the "get-rich quick" variety. It consumed seven weeks. The five men were found guilty on April 29, 1913 After many appeals, which were overruled by the courts, the men were ordered to surrender and begin their jail sentences, when, like a bolt from the blue, last montl they were granted an executive stay of sentence by President Wilson. Relatives of the convicted men had appealed to the President, and A. Mitchell Palmer, supported by some other political leaders had requested the President to act. The Department of Justice and Attorney General Gregory opposed the President's action.

It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking up a cold.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush the Kidneys at once when Backachy or Bladder bothers —Meat forms uric Acid.

No man or women who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications. Advt.

NEGRO POPULATION INCREASING IN U. S.

The bulletin on Negroes in the United States, soon to be issued by Director S. L. Rogers, of the Bureau of the Census Department of Commerce, indicates that there has been among Negroes an increasing tendency toward home ownership, a marked increase in the percentage of school attendance, a pronounced decrease in the percentage of illiteracy, a decrease in the mortality rate, and an increase in the proportion of church membership.

This bulletin, which is a special compilation of information derived from the Thirteenth Census and from other inquiries conducted by the Census Bureau, brings together in one publication all the principal data pertaining to the Negro race which are in the possession of the bureau. The work of planning and arranging the statistical tables, as well as the clerical work, was done by Negro employees.

The Negro population of the United States increased from 757,208, or 19.3 per cent of the total population, in 1790, to 9,827,763, or 10.7 per cent of the total, in 1910. The increase between 1900 and 1910 was at the rate of 11.2 per cent, while during the same period the white population increased by 22.3 per cent. Since 1810 there has been a continuous decrease in the proportion which Negroes have formed of the total population, due, at least in part, to the fact that the white population has been continually augmented by immigration, while there has been very little immigration of Negroes during the past hundred years.

The largest Negro population in any state in 1910 was that of Georgia, 1,176,987; Mississippi was second, with 1,009,487; and Alabama third with 908,282.

Of the 9,827,763 Negroes in the United States in 1910, 7,777,077, or 79.1 per cent, were reported as of pure Negro blood, the remaining 2,050,686, or 20.9 per cent, being classed as "mulattoes." For census purposes this term covers all persons of mixed white and Negro blood, whatever the proportion. The figures indicate a continuous increase in the percentage of mulattoes during the past 40 years.

SELLS-FLOTO IN RICHMOND ON MAY 9TH

There are those who say that he started talking ten miles before he hit town. But whether that is true or not, certainly he began with the moment of his arrival. The trend of the whole conversation? Simply one thing—the coming of the Sells-Floto Circus and Buffalo Bill's original Wild West which is to arrive here for a day's engagement Sunday, May 9th, matinee only, for Al Butler, special agent, is here to make contracts and other arrangements for the coming of the big show, and naturally he wants to talk about the thing which is nearest his heart—that circus.

"Or, rather, I want everybody in town to see the parade when the show comes," Mr. Butler said. "That will save me doing a lot of explaining. A merchant shows his samples, doesn't he? So do we—in that parade. And if you aren't just itching to come to the circus after you've seen that two-mile glittering galaxy, as the press agent would say, we don't want you to come.

"Beg pardon? Yes, Buffalo Bill is still with the show and he will appear personally at each performance to give his salute from the saddle and to direct the Wild West program. More than that, we've got a lot of new features this year that are worth looking at, among them, Rosa Rosalind, the Maid of Mystery, who can turn more somersaults and airsets on the back of a galloping horse than any other woman in the business. And, oh, yes, the price is just the same as ever, a general admission of 25 cents including a seat."

To Hold Party.

ASSEMBLY SETTLES DETERMINED FIGHT

SACRAMENTO, Calif., April 9.—A submerged but at the same time one of the most determined fights which has been carried on for the last two weeks was settled very amicably today in the Assembly and without any display of the threatened fireworks. This fight was over an amendment to Senate Bill 457, known as the Public Utilities Act. The proposed amendment included all ocean going vessels operating between points of this state under the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission. Under a recent decision of the United States Supreme Court vessels operating on regular schedules of arrival and departure are now subject to regulation. The amendment proposed by the Commission included what are known as the irregulars or tramp steamers. The amendment was introduced in the Public Utilities Act during the March session and has passed the Senate before its presence was discovered owing to the fact that the Public Utilities Act covers 78 pages and the only change expected was that to extend the jurisdiction of the Commission over utilities in incorporated cities in accordance with the amendment adopted at the November election.

In fact, the bill had been reported out by the Assembly Committee and was on the second reading before the amendment was discovered. Many vessel owners along the coast made immediate protest. The bill was upheld pending a public hearing which was to be had about a week ago. At that time the Railroad Commission was insistent on its amendment and the shippers who feared an increase in rates and a stifling of competition combined with the owners of steam schooners and other irregular craft for a determined opposition.

The amendment was to be a special order on Tuesday but the Commission was not ready to "go to the bat" and asked that the bill go over until today. Both forces were aligned when it was learned that Chairman Avey, of the Assembly Committee on Commerce and Navigation, had another amendment to propose. This amendment proved to be an elimination of the provision placing irregulars under the jurisdiction of the Commission. In fact after striking out that clause it left the law as it has existed for the past two years.

With this recession from its position on the part of the Railroad Commission no further opposition developed and the bill was referred to a select committee to amend by striking out as above. The opponents of the amendment claimed that they had 43 votes but this is extremely doubtful. An approximate of the vote places it at 34 for the amendment, 33 against and 12 doubtful, with one Assemblyman seriously ill. Neither side cared to risk a vote in the face of the fact, the commission realizing that a defeat of the amendment would eliminate all steamers from its jurisdiction.

"What Fun It Is To Have Your Spring Clothes Admired When Every Girl You Know Had Hers Weeks Before You!"

"Not much, I know! For the fact that you're conspicuous when you usually do appear in something up to date proves that you've been conspicuous for another reason during the dreary, embarassing days you didn't have a decent thing to wear!

"Therefore, I shall start out in my old winter coat tomorrow morning for the last time. I'M GOING TO CHERRY'S AT NOON TO BUY A SPRING SUIT, ON CREDIT.

"One of the clever checked Coats or a Covert model that are so popular at Cherry's might be more practical. But the girls say that CHERRY'S NEW SPRING SUITS are so absolutely and entirely ravishing that I think I'll get one of those dear short-coated, full-skirted Suits, whatever else I pick out.

"CHERRYS HAVE LOVELY new Dresses, too. Such a glorious prospect!—a really happy shopping time with no heart-breaking discoveries of prices too great for me! A little money down, and small weekly or monthly payments to follow.

"Cherry's store for ladies is at 515 13th St., Oakland, just across from the men's store.

"Cherry's two San Francisco stores sell both men's and women's apparel—1009 Market and 2400 Mission St., are their addresses." Advt.

"HOME BREAKERS" ATTRACTION AT RICHMOND

"The Home Breakers" is the headliner of the big comedy and drama offering which will rule at the Richmond today and tomorrow and which promises to be one of the most interesting and hilarious of any of the many comedy outputs of the Keystone company. The Keystone people have attracted widespread attention for their comedy films and the demand is such now that it is hard for the company to deliver its orders.

"The Home Breakers" is said to be even funnier than "Tillie's Punctured Romance" which created such a furore last week.

Those who love a romantic drama of the old school will be immensely pleased with "Gretna Green," a very charming love story in which dainty Marguerite Clark stars in the principal role. The "Spirit of Giving" which deals with the Belgian relief situation is timely. The big vaudeville show planned for Sunday will be the greatest ever offered here.
